„The aim of this conference is to go through and discuss the three different models agreed by the Milan 2014 EFLM Strategic Conference to set APS for the medical laboratory and to give practical examples on how this can be done“.

Join us to share the latest innovative thinking in the delivery of the best laboratory medicine activities.

Learn from expert innovators presenting new ways of solving the financial, quality and organizational problems we all have to face.

If you want to lead your laboratory service to 'first class' performance then join us and experience the shared opinion of like-minded professionals.
